WHITNEY OUT FOR JUDGE

Rockford Star Says Lake Co. is Entitled and Should Have Judgeship

WHITNEY THE RIGHT MAN

Lake County Men are Discussing the Judicial Situation and Whitney Announces His Candidacy

Since the death of Circuit Judge Robert H. Wright of Belvidere, last week Tuesday, much talk has been going the rounds as to the most logical man to be his successor. Lake, the next to the largest county in the seventeenth judicial district, which is composed of Winnebago, McHenry, Lake and Boone, claims the right to its own representative on the judicial bench, and has not been slow in advancing its candidate, Chas. Whitney of Waukegan being the first to announce his candidacy.

It is time Lake County was recognized and in all fairness this recognition should be admitted by members of the bar. Winnebago, McHenry and Boone are so closely contiguous that they do not need three judges, and on the other hand Lake County is so far away that to deprive it of a judge is to impose on the members of the bar and litigants of the county.

Rockford papers with the exception of the Star, and the Belvidere Republican, all at the west end of the district, are opposing the candidacy of Mr. Whitney.

The members of the bar of Boone County recently held a meeting at which it was decided that if Boone County decided to present a candidate, and that in all probability they would, in response to the demand for one, that the choice of the bar would fall upon W. C. De Wolf, the present County Judge of Boone County.

The Belvidere Republican disputes Lake County's right to a resident Circuit Judge by declaring that Boone County has been shut out of representation at Springfield entirely and for forty long years was deprived of a judgeship while for a period of twenty-four years Lake had its share of the offices as well as a resident circuit judge, and further declares that Winnebago is more entitled to two judges than Lake is to one, considering the combined business of Winnebago and Boone and that next to Winnebago, Boone was to be considered. And further states that Lake is like a foreign land to the rest of the district having nothing in common with Winnebago or Boone, who on the other hand are closely bound by many ties, political, social and business.

Mr. Whitney has formally announced his candidacy and because of his wide acquaintance throughout the district and his undisputed ability to fill the position his announcement is being met with hearty approval. He made a strong run two years ago despite the fact that the other three counties lined up against him in an effort to elect the three old judges, but Mr. Whitney took his defeat like a man, in fact his being a good loser made him many friends in the district.

With a resident Circuit Judge the grand jury need never adjourn between court terms but can always be held subject to call, so that justice can be speedy and righteous in Waukegan and prisoners need not remain in jail six months before getting a trial and then get only two or three days sentence.

PIONEER RESIDENT DIES

Albert S. Barber Passes Away Saturday at His Home in Kenosha

Albert S. Barber, one of the best known of the pioneer residents of Kenosha County died just after nine o'clock Wednesday morning at the old Barber home at Kenosha. Mr. Barber was eighty-four years of age and had been in poor health for some time. However he was in his usual good spirits this week and on Wednesday morning had gone to the barn to do some work when he was attacked with a stroke of paralysis resulting from a blood clot on the brain. He was found in the barn unconscious and carried to the house and a physician was called but he survived for only a few moments. The death of Albert S. Barber marks the passing of a man who had much to do with the development of Kenosha County. The deceased was a native of Vermont and was born in Rutland county, October 21, 1826. In his young manhood he was married to Miss Eliza Selleck of Lawrence county, N. Y. and together they came west in 1854 and for a short time lived at Janesville, and in 1855 he purchased a farm at Salem where he resided until 1890. Mr. and Mrs. Barber celebrated their golden wedding April 12, 1902, and Mrs. Barber died on the first day of January 1905.

The deceased was a man of sterling traits of character and during his long residence in Kenosha he was a man respected by all. He was an ardent advocate of temperance and a devoted Christian man and for years was a member of the Congregational church.

Mr. Barber is survived by an adopted daughter, Mrs. C. F. Groerer, who was with him at the time of his death. His one son, Charles J., was killed in a railway accident at Camp Lake. He is also survived by 5 grand children, John, Chas. and Arthur of Kenosha and Mrs. Gertrude Minnis and Mrs. Charles Hasse, both of Salem.

WILL CONTEST ELECTION

Thomas Burns of Belvidere will Ask Legislature to Recount.

Thomas Burns, of Belvidere, Ill., defeated democratic candidate for the legislature from the eighth senatorial district, will contest the election of Joseph Anderson, prohibition candidate elected from Lake County, before the legislature at the coming session.

The eighth district is the three counties of Lake McHenry and Boone, and Burns has served papers on successful and unsuccessful candidates alike that he would ask the legislature to break the seals on the envelopes containing the ballots and make a recount, which he declares, will be found to elect him. Burns ranked next to Anderson in vote totals, and Anderson won by the plumping of the dry votes, and his majority was only sixty-six.

Burns in his notice as served on the other candidates, recites the vote total as it now stands officially and asserts that the recount will materially change it.

Representatives elect are E. D. Shurtleff, of Marengo; James H. Vickers, of Harvard; and Joseph E. Anderson of Lake Forest, two from McHenry and one from Lake county.

ANTIOCH NOW HAS DAY SYSTEM

The work of connecting the lighting system of this place with the main plant at Waukegan was completed last week and on Tuesday of this week, Antioch was placed on the list of cities and towns having an all day service. Ever since the purchase of the Antioch Electric plant by the North Shore Electric company the residents here have had the promise of this service and although a very small percentage of our people have as yet had any use for electricity other than for lighting purposes, now that the day service has been obtained it is quite probable that many electrical devices, such as washers, flat irons, heaters, etc., will be installed.

When the local plant shut down Monday night it closed for good and Tuesday workmen were employed in taking down the wires connecting it with the lighting system, and hereafter all power will be supplied from Waukegan. Many changes have been made in our street lights in the past few weeks and the heavier voltage thus secured has made a decided improvement in their brilliancy.

SMOOTH GRAFT GAME

Smoothest Graft on Record Works Score of Victims For $5.00

MULCTS BOND SALESMAN

Tells Salesman That He is Disappointed in Getting Check From His Firm and Gets Requested Five Spot.

Perhaps the smoothest grafter who has ever honored Waukegan with his presence, and he may be a home man at that, victimized about a score of Waukeganites and out of town people there as transients Tuesday and then made a successful flight to safety, leaving only a meager description as a clue.

In every case he played his game in exactly the same manner, and good dress an ingratiating personality, and a good string of talk enabled him to "get away" with it every time.

Wearing a "Travelers' Protective Association" button, he seemed to make a specialty of lying in wait for and waylaying traveling men there on business. Making his headquarters at one hotel, it is believed, he would approach a fellow traveling man, tell him a hard luck story, and borrow $5 in each case. In very few instances was he "turned down" and he must have netted at least $50.

In one case he met J. Rickter Kembeck, attached to the case department of the National City Bank in Chicago, in a hotel bar room near the depot.

He said that he was going to Milwaukee, where the bond man was also going, that he expected a check from his firm at Milwaukee, and that he would take it as a great favor if the bond man would lend him five. He said he would take the same train to Milwaukee as the bond man and asked the bond man's Milwaukee address, given as the University club, Milwaukee. The bond man gave up the five, but the smooth and industrious stranger failed to show up for Milwaukee at train time, at the 9:50 train north.

Officer Mark Malloy, the Northwestern depot policeman, saw the whole incident and gives a description of the alleged swindler. He is five feet tall, smooth shaven, wears a gray overcoat and a black derby hat, and is a fluent, plausible ready talker.

The officer has spotted a suspect in that city and will arrest him on sight.

Another transient stung was a Kenosha whom the swindler approached on the street corner and persuaded to part from $5.

Other victims are reported to have been saloonkeepers and sympathetic bartenders to whom the stranger told his woes.

VOLIVA OPPOSED TO SMOKING IN ZION CITY

"No one but a low down scoundrel would smoke tobacco, chew tobacco, or drink whiskey in Zion City." A remark made by several persons visiting Zion City, all of whom in their respective towns smoke and drink.

"Let all violators of Zion restrictions take warning—their day of reckoning is at hand."

"Let all good Zion people rally and go forward as one man."

These are the headlines for the weekly Voliva circular at Zion City and the general overseer then thundered.

Let me have the names of all people whom you know are violating Zion City's restrictions and be prepared to file affidavits. Let me have the names of the people, the names of the streets and the numbers of the houses where they live, where you know that tobacco is used, either smoked or chewed and where any liquors are brought, and I will guarantee to clean them out in short order. It is said that there are several smoke dens in the city.

DIES OF HEART DISEASE

WAS WAITING FOR TRAIN

Well Known Attorney and Interested in the McCormick Will and Other Prominent Cases

William P. Underwood, for thirty years an attorney in Chicago and a resident of Highland Park, dropped dead of heart disease at 7:05 this (Thursday) morning at the Northwestern railway station in Highland Park.

Mr. Underwood was in the station waiting for the suburban train to take him to Chicago, and was speaking to some business men, when he was stricken. He was seen to turn pale and reel, and before the other men could catch him, he had fallen to the station floor dead. The friends of the man hastily summoned a doctor, but life had been extinct for some time before the medical man arrived. Apparently he had not drawn a breath since he fell to the floor.

Mr. Underwood had left the home on Ravine avenue this morning feeling as well as could be. Never before in his life, it is said, had he any trouble with his heart, and the sudden death was a shock to his many friends. His wife, who was at home when Mr. Underwood was stricken, is prostrated and is in the care of a physician. Besides the wife, Mr. Underwood is survived by two sons, 11 and 13 years of age.

Mr. Underwood was born in Lafayette, Ind., in 1853. When a young man he chose the law as his profession and entered Ann Arbor university, from which he graduated with honors. Thirty years ago he began his law practice in Chicago, and has continued in this work ever since.

He entered into partnership with Mr. George W. Manier, and the two attorneys opened offices in the Ashland building in Chicago, where the headquarters of the firm are now. He was made the attorney in fact for the McCormick estate and in many other large estates he was interested in.

He has lived on Ravine avenue in Highland Park ever since he opened his offices in Chicago. The family there have a lovely home and it was there that the two sons of the couple were born. The boys were in Chicago at the time of their father's death.

The inquest was held at the Prior undertaking rooms in Highland Park this morning at 10 o'clock, the jury returning a verdict of death from heart failure.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

HUNTERS GET MANY RABBITS

Encouraged by the light snowfall of last week many of our local marksmen set out on Sunday morning in quest of members of the cotton tail tribe. The weather was fine, the light fall of snow made it easy to track the bunnies and every condition was strongly in favor of the "men behind the guns." Many came home with all the rabbits they could use and some had enough so they could share with their neighbors.

A very interesting incident is told to us as follows: Two of the huntsmen, both prominent young men of Antioch, started out and drove west as far as the Fox river bridge where they scented their first game. Mr. Rabbit jumped out from behind a pile of rocks and started out on his race for life. The two hunters emptied their two pump guns, (which by the way had six shells each) at poor bunny without raising a single hair. Not to be outdone however, by their furry foe they pursued him on foot and drove him into a straw stack owned by a farmer who lives in that neighborhood. They at once armed themselves with clubs (discarding their guns as a useless incumbrance) and pounced upon poor bunny and beat him into insensibility fracturing his skull and ultimately causing his death. What will be done regarding the matter is not definitely known but the two unfortunate men have our most sincere sympathy. It is with regret that we are forced to chronicle this sad event.

FAIR ASSOCIATION ELECTS

Annual Election of Lake County Agricultural Society Held Wednesday

What proved to be the largest vote ever polled at an election of the Lake County Agricultural Society was cast at the annual election of officers of that society held in the town hall at Libertyville yesterday (Wednesday).

The fight seemed to be centered upon W. E. (Shorty) Miller, the present president of the association, and for a time it looked as if he and his entire ticket would be defeated, so strong was the opposition. But "Shorty" got busy among his friends and when the result of the ballot was given out it showed Miller and his entire ticket had won with a substantial majority.

The total number of votes cast was about 335.

The result is as follows:

For President,
W. E. Miller.....	200
E. W. Parkhurst.....	127
For Vice President,
George Thompson.....	204

HENRY MARSH DEAD

Man Born and Educated in Bristol Dies Suddenly at Louisville, Ky.

Henry Marsh, aged 44 years, formerly of Kenosha, died very suddenly at Louisville, Ky., Monday. No details of the death of Mr. Marsh have been received in Kenosha as the first heard of his illness was brought in a message to his father, Daniel Marsh in the town of Bristol Monday. Mr. Marsh had started for Louisville and when he reached the railway station at Woodworth he received a second message telling of the death of his son. The deceased was born in the town of Bristol, educated in the Bristol schools and later in the Kenosha high school. He was employed for a number of years in the office of the M. H. Pettit Maltine company and later became a salesman for the American Maltine co. in Milwaukee. For some time he had been with a Chicago company. Mr. Marsh is survived by his widow who was with him in Louisville when he died Monday.

Daniel Marsh and Charles Marsh, a brother, left for Louisville Monday and it is possible that the remains will be brought to Kenosha for interment.

Mr. Marsh spent all his younger manhood in Kenosha and was active in the affairs of the city. He served as alderman from the old First ward twenty years ago and was a member of the volunteer fire department of the city.

Of late years Mr. Marsh was general sales manager for the American Maltine Company.

WEDDING CAKES FOR RENT

Showy Confections May Be Hired for About $3 Each and Are Reliced After Each Occasion.

There was something wrong with the cake, the baker said; it looked all right and it smelled all right, but his artistic sense told him it would not taste all right.

"Then fix it up with an extra coat of icing and we will keep it for a renter," said the proprietor.

"Who in the world would rent a cake?" some one asked.

"Wedding parties," said he. "They want a big cake in the center of the table for show, but a cake of that size good enough for a wedding would cost more than they can afford to pay, so they order fine cake put up in individual boxes for the guests and use the bride's cake just as an ornament. They don't buy it, they rent it. Sometimes a cake is rented a dozen different times. After each wedding it is freshened up with a new coat of icing and looks as good as new for the next occasion. A good renter fetches about $3 a wedding.

ATTEMPTS TO HANG HIMSELF

MAKES TWO ATTEMPTS

The Man, Who is Supposed to be August Gustafson of Chicago, Makes Second Attempt in Cell at County Jail

The man believed to be August Gustafson of Chicago who was picked up in Waukegan Monday morning when he was found in a nude condition, walking south on the Chicago & Milwaukee electric tracks, made a second attempt to take his own life by hanging himself to the door of his cell in Lake county jail Monday night about 12 o'clock. He was prevented from perpetrating the rash deed by other occupants of the jail who had been watching his actions while he prepared for his second attempt to jump into the next world.

The fellow had been acting queerly the greater part of the day and evening and had called attention to himself by his refusal to converse with anyone and his steadfast application to his prayers.

When Sheriff Green visited the jail shortly after 11 o'clock everything was all right but shortly after that occupants of the jail saw the fellow tear a piece of cloth from his bed quilt. He twisted this about until it resembled a rope. Then standing upon his bunk he fastened one end securely to the top bar on his cell door. About this time the other occupants of the jail interfered and prevented him from finishing the act. According to one report it was employees of the electric company who found him. At that time it is said his almost nude body was stretched across the rails and he had his head resting on one of them. This led to the belief that he may have tried to end his life then. His body was blue with cold when found and it was feared that he would not recover. He did, however, and the fact that he attempted to end his life again makes it seem plausible that he made the attempt Monday morning.

He is a conundrum to jail officials and they do not know how to classify him. His sphinx-like attitude whenever he is approached makes the insanity theory the most probable. He continued his prayers all day.

Later Chief Conolly sent a patrolman to the county jail and the fellow consented to talk, probably because the officer was one of his own countrymen.

He admitted that his name is Gustafson. He says he has a brother, Arrid, living at 45 Court near Chicago avenue in Chicago. He also gave the addresses of several friends in Chicago. The police have communicated with them. When asked where he himself lived he said his home is in heaven.

Gustafson said he went to Zion City to see a young lady friend named Miss Elizabeth Flood. He said he has taken her to church but that after church was over he lost her in some manner. After this his mind was a blank and he could not account for his actions here. The police think there is little doubt but that he is insane.

SYNOPSIS.

Capt. Nathaniel Plum of the ship Typhoid, lands secretly on Beaver Island, stronghold of the "Mormons." Obadiah Price, Mormon councillor, confronts him, tells him he is expected, and bargains for the ammunition aboard the ship. His blind Nat by a solemn oath to deliver a package to Franklin Pierce, president of the United States. Near Price's cabin Nat sees the frightened face of a young woman who disappears in the darkness, leaving an odor of lilacs. It develops that Nat's visit to the island is to demand settlement of the king, Strang, for the looting of his ship by Mormons. Price shows Nat the king's palace, and through a window he sees the lady of the lilacs, who Price says is the king's seventh wife. Calling Nat to the king's office, Nat is warned by a young woman that his life is in danger. Strang professes indignation when he hears Nat's grievance and promises to punish the king's wife, and the king orders the sheriff, Arbor Croche, to pursue and kill the two men. Plum learns that Marlon, the girl of the lilacs, is Nat's sister. The two men plan to escape, on Nat's ship and take Marlon and Winnacme, daughter of Arbor Croche, and sweetheart of Nat. Nat discovers that the ship has been seized by the Mormons. She begs him to leave the island, telling him that nothing can save her from Strang, whom she is doomed to marry. Plum finds Price raving mad. Recovering, he tells Nat that Strang is deemed that armed men are descending on the island. Nat learns that Marlon has been summoned to the castle by Strang. Nat kills Arbor Croche, and after a desperate fight with the king, leaves him for dead. The avenging host from the mainland descends on St. James. Nat and Nat take part in the battle and the latter is wounded.

He felt the dash of the water in his face and it put new life into him. Somebody had raised him to a sitting posture and was supporting him there while a second person bound a cloth about his head. He opened his eyes and the light of day shot into them like a stinging, burning charge of needle-points, and he closed them again with a sharp cry of pain. That second's glance had shown him that it was a woman who was binding his head. He had not seen her face. Beyond her he had caught a half-formed vision of many people and the glistening edge of the sea, and as he lay with closed eyes the murmur of voices came to him. The support at his back was taken away, slowly, as if the person who held him feared that he would fall. Nathaniel stiffened himself to show his returning strength and opened his eyes again. This time the pain was not so great. A few yards away he saw a group of people and among them were women; still farther away, so far that his brain grew dizzy as he looked, there was a black moving crowd. He was among the wounded. The Mormon women were here. Down there along the shore—among the dead—had assembled the population of St. James.

A strange sickness overpowered him and he sank back against his supporter. A cool hand passed over his face. It was a soothing, gentle touch—the hand of the woman. He felt the sweep of soft hair against his cheek—a breath whispering in his ear.

"You will be better soon." His heart stood still.

"You will be better—"

Against his rough cheek there fell the soft pressure of a woman's lips. Nathaniel pulled himself erect, every drop of blood in him striving for the mastery of his body, his vision, his strength. He tried to turn, but strong arms seized him from behind. A man's voice spoke to him, a man's strength held him. In an agony of appeal Marlon's name burst from his lips.

"Sh-h!" warned the voice behind him. "Are you crazy?" The arms relaxed their hold and Nathaniel dragged himself to his knees. The woman was gone. As far as he could see there were people—scores of them, hundreds of them—multiplied into thousands and millions as he looked, until there was only a black cloud about him. He staggered to his feet and a strong hand kept him from falling while his brain slowly cleared. The millions and thousands and hundreds of people dissolved themselves into the day until only a handful was left where he had seen multitudes. He turned his face weakly to the man beside him.

"Where did she go?" he asked. It was a boyish face into which his pleading eyes gazed, a face white with the strain of battle, reddened a little on one cheek with a smear of blood, and there was a startled, frightened look in it that did not come of the strife that had passed.

"Who? What are you talking about?" "The woman," whispered Nathaniel. "The woman—Marlon—who kissed—"

The young fellow's hand gripped his arm in a sudden fierce clutch. "You've been dreaming!" he exclaimed in a threatening voice. "Shut up!" He spoke the words loudly. Then quickly dropping his voice to a whisper he added: "For God's sake don't betray her! They saw her with us—everybody knows that it was the king's wife with you!"

The king's wife! Nathaniel was too weak to analyze the words beyond the fact that they carried the dread truth of his fears deep into his soul. Who would have come to him but Marlon? Who else would have kissed him? It was her voice that had whispered in his ear—the thrill of her hand that had passed over his face. And this man had said that she was the wife of the king! He heard the voices of other men near him but did not understand what they were saying. He knew that after a moment there was a man on each side of him holding him by the arms, and mechanically he moved his legs, knowing that they wanted him to walk. They did not guess how weak he was—how he struggled to keep from becoming too great a weight on their hands. Once or twice they stopped in their agonizing climb up the hill. On its top the cool sea air swept into Nathaniel's face and it was like water to a parched throat.

After a time it seemed a day of terrible work and pain to him—they came to the streets of the town, and in a half-conscious sort of way he cursed at the rabble trailing at their heels. They passed close to the temple, dirt and blood and a burning torment shutting the vision of it from his eyes, and beyond this there was another crowd. An aisle opened for them, as it had opened for others ahead of them. In front of the jail they stopped. Nathaniel's head hung heavily upon his breast and he made no effort to raise it. All ambition and desire had left him, all desire but one, and that was to drop upon the ground and lie there for endless, restful years. What consciousness was left in him was ebbing swiftly; he saw black, fatherless night about him and the earth seemed slipping from under his feet.

A voice dragged him back into life—a voice that boomed in his ears like rolling thunder and set every fiber in him quivering with emotion. He drew himself erect with the involuntary strength of one mastering the last spasm of death and as they dragged him through the door he saw there within an arm's reach of him the great, living face of Strang, glowing at him as if from out of a mist—red eyed, white fanged, filled with the vengeance of a beast.

The great voice rumbled in his ears again.

"Take that man to the dungeon!"

CHAPTER X.

Winnacme's Verdict of Death. The voice—the condemning words—followed Nathaniel as he staggered on between his two guards; it haunted him still as the cold chill of the rattling dungeon walls struck in his face; it remained with him as he stood swaying in the thick gloom—the voice rumbling in his ears, the words beating against his brain until the shock of them sickened him, until he stretched out his arms and there fell from him such a cry as had never tortured his lips before.

Strang was alive! He had left the spark of life in him, and the woman who loved him had fanned it back into full flame.

Strang was alive! And Marlon—Marlon was his wife! The voice of the king taunted him from the black chaos that hid the dungeon walls. The words struck at him, filling his head with shooting pain, and he tottered back and sank to the ground to get away from them. They followed, and that vengeful leer of the king was behind them, urging them on, until they beat his face into the sticky earth, and smothered him into what he thought was death.

There came rest after that, a long, silent rest. When Nathaniel slowly climbed up out of the black shadows again, the first consciousness that came to him was that the word-demons had stopped their beating against his brain and that he no longer heard the voice of the king. His relief was so great that he breathed a restful sigh. Something touched him then. Great God! were they coming back? Were they still there—waiting—waiting—

It was a wonderfully familiar voice that spoke to him.

"Hello there, Nat! Want a drink?" He gulped eagerly at the cool liquid that touched his lips.

"Well," he whispered.

"It's me, Nat. They chucked me in with you. Hell's hole, isn't it?"

Nathaniel sat up, Nell's strong arm at his back. There was a light in the room now and he could see his companion's face, smiling at him encouragingly. The sight of it was like an elixir to him. He drank again and new life coursed through him.

"Yes—hell of a hole!" he repeated drowsily. "Sorry for you—Nell!" and he seemed to sleep again.

Nell laughed as he wiped his companion's face with a wet cloth. "I'm used to it, Nat. Been here before," he said. "Can you get up? There's a bench over here—not long enough to stretch you out on—or I would have made you a bed of it, but it's better than this mud to sit on."

He put his arms about Nathaniel and helped him to his feet. For a few moments the wounded man stood without moving.

"I'm not very bad, I guess," he said, taking a slow step. "Where is the seat, Nell? I'm going to walk to it. What sort of a bump have I got on the head?"

"Nothing much," assured Nell. "Suspicious, though," he grinned cheerfully. "Looks as though you were running and somebody came up and tapped you from behind!"

Nathaniel's strength returned to him quickly. The pain had gone from his head and his eyes no longer hurt him. In the dim candle-light he could distinguish the four walls of the dungeon, glistening with the water and mold that reeked from between their rotting logs. The floor was of wet, sticky earth which clung to his boots, and the air that he breathed filled his nostrils and throat with the uncomfortable thickness of a night fog at sea. Through it the candle burned in a misty haze. Near the candle, which stood on a shelflike table against one of the walls, was a big dish which caught Nathaniel's eyes.

"What's that?" he asked, pointing toward it.

"Grub," replied Nell. "Hungry?"

He went to the table and got the plate of food. There were chunks of boiled meat, unuttered bread and cold potatoes. For several minutes they ate in silence. Now that Nathaniel was himself again Nell could no longer keep up his forced spirits. Both realized that they had played their game and that it had ended in defeat. And each believed that it was his individual power to alleviate to some extent the other's misery. To Nell what was ahead of them held no mystery. A few hours more and then—death. It was only the form in which it would come that troubled him, that made him think. Usually the victims of this dungeon cell were shot. Sometimes they were hanged. But why tell Nathaniel? So he ate his meat and bread without words, waiting for the other to speak, as the other waited for him. And Nathaniel, on his part, kept to himself the secret of Marlon's fate. After they had done with the meat and the bread and the cold potatoes he pulled out his beloved pipe and filled it with the last scraps of his tobacco, and as the fumes of it clouded round his head, soothing him in its old friendship, he told of his fight with Strang and his killing of Arbor Croche.

"I'm glad for Winnacme's sake," said Nell, after a moment. "Oh, if you'd only killed Strang!"

Nathaniel thought of what Marlon had said to him in the forest. "Nell," he said quietly, "do you know that Winnacme loves you—not as the little girl whom you tooted about on your shoulders—but as a woman? Do you know that?" In the other's silence he added: "When I last saw Marlon she sent this message to you—'Tell Nell that he must go, for Winnacme's sake. Tell him that her fate is shortly to be as cruel as mine.'—Tell him that Winnacme loves him and that she will escape and come to him on the mainland." Like words of fire they had burned themselves in his brain and as Nathaniel repeated them he thought of that other broken heart that had sobbed out its anguish to him in the castle chamber. "Nell, a man can die easier when he knows that a woman loves him!"

He had risen to his feet and was walking back and forth through the thick gloom. "I'm glad!" Nell's voice came to him softly, as though he scarcely dared to speak the words aloud. After a moment he added: "Have you got a pencil, Nat? I would like to leave a little note for Winnacme."

Nathaniel found both pencil and paper in one of his pockets and Nell dropped upon his knees in the mud beside the table. Ten minutes later he turned to Nathaniel and a great change had come into his face.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Tree Gives Back Watch.

A pickpocket was discovered in the woods near Riverhead, Long Island, recently, but was not arrested. It was a twig.

In December, 1908, L. M. Raynor, of Riverhead was in the woods and unknown to him at the time a twig picked his pocket, neatly extracting his watch, relates the New York World. He did not know of his loss until he reached home and he did not know what had become of the watch.

Walking in the woods the other day Raynor saw his watch depending from a twig about the level of his head. He believed he must have bent the branch down while passing and that his pocket was picked at that time. The watch suffered no harm by its year and a half exposure, but started ticking when he wound it up.

How She Won Out.

"How did you manage to catch the man you wanted?" we asked of the bride.

"By pretending to try to catch a man I didn't want," she confessed.

"No, ma'am," he answered blandly. "Did you want them with worms?"

THE IMPORTANCE OF HEALTHY KIDNEYS.

Weak kidneys fail to remove poisons from the blood, and they are the cause of backache, headaches, urinary troubles and dizzy spells. To insure good health, keep the kidneys well. Doan's Kidney Pills remove all kidney ills.

Mrs. E. E. Dewey, Neligh, Neb., says: "In 1909 I had a dreadful attack of dropsy, my face being so puffed I could hardly see and my feet and hands were terribly swollen. Doan's Kidney Pills were advised and I began taking them. It required only short use to restore my kidneys to a normal condition."

YOUR STOMACH FEELS FINE.

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Sourness, Gas and All Stomach Misery Ended in Five Minutes.

This harmless preparation will promptly digest anything you eat and overcome a sick, sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach within five minutes.

If your meals don't sit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion. Get from any drug store here in town a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapapain and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Dribbling, Headaches, Dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapapain is a certain regulator for out-of-order stomachs, and besides it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

Remember, if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now, you can get relief in five minutes by taking a little Diapapain.

Some women jump at conclusions, because they want to see how the story is going to end.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

It is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeits as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

People Who Work Indoors With Their Hands

Seamstresses, watch-makers, artists, draughtsmen, and many others, cannot properly handle their tools with cold, stiff hands. Many a lost hour or two on cold winter mornings results from the delayed heat of furnace or stove.

The Perfection Oil Heater in a few minutes gives the temperature that assures the worker warm hands and pliable muscles. The quickly gives heat, and with one filling of the font burns steadily for nine hours, without smoke or smell. Has automatic flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so the wick can be quickly cleaned.

It has a damper top and a cool handle. Indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down; it is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain, and cannot get lost.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection is finished in Japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

SOFT HUNDRED DOLLAR BILLS

Old Notes Wanted by Women Automobileists Because They Can Be Easily Tucked Away.

"The request for an old soft hundred-dollar bill has become so frequent of late," said the ladies' teller in a New York bank, "that I made so bold as to ask a friendly depositor what this feminine craze for shabby hundred-dollar bills stood for."

"All your hundred-dollar bill ladies have autos, I suppose?" she asked. I admitted that most of them had.

"Most of them have country places within easy motoring distance?" was her next question. I thought a minute and said that many of them were semi-suburbanites.

"She then went on to say that if I was any kind of a Sherlock Holmes I'd be able to put these facts together and see that suburban living often necessitated rapid motoring; that this meant arrest and that bill was a good thing to have on hand. An extra hundred-dollar bill pinned under a cushion of the machine was fairly safe from theft and often saved the situation. A new bill is too crisp for easy hiding and pinning and is apt to rustle when touched. The old bill's just the thing for tucking away in a cardcase or vanity bag or pinning in some pocket of the machine. 'Quiet, safe, but effective,' was the way she summed up the billing virtues of the shabby hundred-dollar bill."

One of Tom Hood's Last Jokes. Shortly before his death, being visited by a clergyman whose features as well as language were more lugubrious than consoling, Hood looked up at him compassionately and said, "My dear sir, I am afraid your religion doesn't agree with you."—From Planché's Reminiscences.

Saved From Awful Death.

How an appalling calamity in his family was prevented is told by A. D. McDonald, of Fayetteville, N. C. R. F. D. No. 8. "My sister had consumption," he writes, "she was very thin and pale, had no appetite and seemed to grow weaker every day, as all remedies failed, till Dr. King's New Discovery was tried, and so completely cured her, that she has not been troubled with a cough since. It's the best medicine I ever saw or heard of." For coughs, colds, lagrippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhage all bronchial troubles, it has no equal, 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by J. H. Swan.

Timeliness.

All measures of reformation are effective in exact proportion to their timeliness; partial decay may be cut away and cleansed; incipient error corrected; but there is a point at which corruption can no more be stayed, nor wandering recalled. It has been the manner of modern philanthropy to remain passive until that precise period, and to leave the sick to perish, and the foolish to stray, while it spent itself in frantic exertions to raise the dead, and reform the dust.—Ruskin.

Where Women Propose.

In New Guinea it is considered against the dignity of the man to even look at a woman and consequently the women must make all the proposals. If a girl thinks she would like to marry a young man she sends a piece of string to the sister or mother of the man, and they approach him. If the girl breaks the engagement the man may meet and beat her, and if he breaks it, her relations may treat him the same. No time is wasted in courting and they must make up their minds at once.

Internals of Ocean Greyhound.

In a big Atlantic liner there are over one thousand tons of piping of various kinds. The boiler tubes if placed end to end would stretch about ten miles, the condenser tubes over twenty-five miles. The condensers pump up more than fifty thousand tons of water a day, and the turbines consume about eight million cubic feet of air per hour. No fewer than 50,000 separate pieces of steel are used in the main structure of the ship.

Sympathy for Moose.

Tired by a cow moose, a Massachusetts man started to play a phonograph and the moose thing was just six seconds jumping over two barns and four haystacks and losing itself in the woods. We know exactly how the moose felt about it, and nothing but the speed laws prevented us from taking a similar hike on no less than two thousand different occasions.

Evidently a Mistake.

"They say his wife has Indian blood in her veins." "That must be a mistake. Indians are supposed to be stoical and silent."

Appearances Deceive.

Sometimes when a girl looks sweet enough to eat, she is hungry enough to bite her hat.—Galveston News.

TIGHT SILOS

A good silo will pay for itself in one year. One that isn't absolutely airtight is worse than useless. Wooden silos cost nearly as much, every year, in repairs and insurance as they save. Silage juices rapidly decay wood—this material makes a short-lived structure. Cut cost and insure satisfaction by building a Marquette Portland Concrete Cement silo. No insurance, no repairs, just steady, efficient service year in, year out—and generations to come will use your Marquette Concrete silo with the same satisfaction that you yourself will experience. Toyland Opens Saturday

We want every child in Lake County to be here. Bring your mothers and we'll show you all a good time

The happiest spot in the whole town is toyland, located in our basement—and why shouldn't it be? There is gathered here everything possible to please the youngsters—dolls, toys, games, books, etc., and in such pleasing variety as to make the eyes of each boy and girl dance with delight the minute they enter.

Now Johnny, Mary and all of the rest of you boys and girls have your parents bring you right down to the Globe tomorrow; they'll enjoy strolling through Toyland and seeing the sights as much as you will and you'll all have a jolly good time. Old Santa intends making his headquarters here because he likes the boss and all the salespeople and knows we have the biggest line of toys in the city.

A Tough Boy.

Willie Smith, a boy of fourteen years old, living near Coosa, Ga., was driving a mule team across the railroad tracks when the engine of a fast train hit him. The mules were killed, the wagon demolished, and Willie was flung a distance of 70 feet into a cornfield. When they went after his dead body they found him sitting up and wondering what it was all about. He had two or three bruises, but no bones were broken. When Willie gets a little older he can play with dynamite.

"Cen" Knew His Duty as Usher.

The congregation of a certain church is not "exclusive," but some of its members were surprised at the appointment of a new usher. They said that he might be a very good young man, but he had not belonged very long to the church, and, besides, it seemed unlikely that a street car conductor would suit the etiquette of a house of worship. But the trustees said that he had been chosen for that very reason, adding: "We need a man of that kind to deal with the end seat hog. He is a greater nuisance in the church than in the cars. Early in the service he plants himself at the aisle end of a free pew and later comes who are ushered into that pew fall all over him taking their places. It takes a man with grit to make him move along. This former conductor has the grit, and he has tact gained from experience. That is why we made him usher."

Worth Trying.

"If a man can't depend on his friends, whom can he depend on?" "He might try himself for a 'haug'."

High Hats Bring Fat Fees.

A Brooklyn clergyman who is stationed in a parish that adjoins a large cemetery is called upon frequently by the cemetery authorities to read the burial service at graves of persons whose relatives have no church connections. The fees for this work have been surprisingly large and recently the clergyman has begun buying a house on the installment plan.

At a social gathering of clergymen, when the dignity of their offices for the time was forgotten, this parson was jokingly accused of "living on dead men." He denied the charge, but admitted that he always wore a silk hat when called upon to officiate for strangers because he had come to find that the higher the hat the larger the fee.

Jury Service in Dickens' Time.

If it's near dinner time, the foreman takes out his watch when the jury have returned and says: "Dear me, gentlemen, ten minutes to five, I declare! I dine at five, gentlemen." "So do I," says everybody else except two men who ought to have dined at three, and seem more than half disposed to stand out in consequence. The foreman smiles, and puts up his watch: "Well, gentlemen, what do we say? Plaintiff, defendant, gentlemen? I rather think so far as I am concerned, gentlemen—I say I rather think—but don't let that influence you—I rather think the plaintiff's the man." Upon this two or three other men are sure to say they think so, too—as of course they do, and then they get on very unamously and comfortably.—From Dickens.

The Philosopher of Folly.
"Time has more lives than a cat," says the Philosopher of Folly. "I've killed it a thousand times myself, but eternity doesn't seem a minute nearer."

2ND SESSION OPENS

BIG CROWD IS PRESENT TO WITNESS THE "BEGINNING OF THE END"

CANNON QUITE UNPERTURBED

Many Members and Employees Entering Upon Their Last Service, but the Democrats May Retain Blind Chaplain.

By E. S. CLARK.

Washington.—Thousands of persons thronged the capitol at the opening of congress Monday, and if their thoughts could be read it probably would be found that most of them were drawn to witness the preliminary proceedings by a desire to be in "at the beginning of the end," for so it is known that as soon as this short session is over the control of the house of representatives passes from the Republicans into the hands of the Democrats.

Opening day in congress always draws a throng, but as a general thing the crowd which gather at the beginning of the first session when a new congress takes hold are much larger than those which come together to witness the proceedings on the opening day of the second session. Curiosity perhaps to see how men take defeat was responsible in large part for the overflowing attendance at the present opening.

Speaker Cannon looks at the Republican majority which sits at his left and understands with a resigned yet painful fullness of knowledge, that in a short time a Democratic speaker will have his place and will see sitting at his left an overwhelming majority of Democrats.

Speaker Cannon shows no sign of discomfiture in the defeat of his party and in his knowledge of the passing of personal power. His gavel comes down with the same old resounding whack and his smile for Democratic interrupters is as grim as ever it was. The blind chaplain of the house, Rev. Mr. Condon, prayed at the opening without showing visible evidence that his own position as spiritual director of the lower chamber is in danger. The Democrats like the chaplain, it is said, and this feeling of kindness, taken with the fact that the clergyman has been blind for many years, may save him his chaplaincy when the Democrats take charge of the office and of the legislation in the lower house.

In the senate Vice-President Sherman occupies again the chair of the presiding officer. There are several vacant seats in the senate which at the last session were occupied. Three members of the upper house recently have died. There was a crowd in the senate galleries, as there was in those of the house. The Republicans will still control the senate after March 4, but notwithstanding this there are a good many senators who are just beginning the last session of their present service in congress.

On the opening day in congress little work is performed. It is not until after the president's message is read and certain committee arrangements have been made that the house settles down to its winter's task. The senate generally has some continuing business to occupy it from the opening hour, but at this last session there is a disposition to take things comparatively easy.

Nearly all the officers of the house of representatives, except possibly the chaplain, are entering on their last few months of service. The veteran clerk, Alexander McDowell, who has been in the service for many years, will depart in March. Ascher C. Hinds, the parliamentarian, who knows the rules and precedents better than any other man, will leave his place at the speaker's side to take a seat as a member of the house, for he recently was elected to congress from a Maine district.

REBELS SEIZE CHINESE ISLE

Portuguese Troops and Sailors Rise in Revolt—Drive Out Nuns from Convent.

Macao, China.—This city, a dependency of Portugal, is in the hands of the local garrison and the crew of the gunboat Patria, who revolted Tuesday night, marched to the public square and took possession of the city government at the point of the bayonet.

All the demands of the mutinous force, which included expulsion of the religious orders, increased pay for the army and navy and indemnity for alleged wrongs done the sailors and soldiers, were granted by the governor under threat.

The first act of the rebels, who numbered several hundred, was to drive the nuns from the Santa Clara convent. A cannon was then mounted in front of the government house and the officials compelled to accede to the demands. Considerable apprehension is felt among the people, as no guarantee for the security of life and property has been made.

Warships Are Off Macao. Hongkong.—The authorities at Peking Saturday ordered a Chinese fleet to Macao, where there recently was a revolt in the Portuguese army and navy forcing the governor to make certain concessions.

Carnegie Swells Poet's Fund. Atlanta, Ga.—Inspired by his love for Josie Chandler Harris, Andrew Carnegie Saturday donated $5,000 to the Uncle Remus Memorial fund. The association has $8,000 of which Roosevelt lectures brought $5,000.

CORPORATION TAX RUNS HIGH

282,480 CONCERNS MAKE RETURNS UNDER NEW LAW.

Total Amount Collected First Year Totals $27,000,000, Averaging $103.97 Per Company.

Washington.—The sweeping importance of President Taft's order for the publicity of corporation tax returns is emphasized by the figures contained in the annual report of Royal O. Cahill, commissioner of internal revenue. According to this report, the books of his office show that these returns have been filed by 282,480 corporations chartered by the various states.

The total capital is $52,471,626,752. The interest bearing indebtedness of these corporations is $31,338,952,898.82; net income for the year which the tax ran, $3,125,481,101.04.

The tax collected for the first year was $27,290,767.43. This is an average of $103.97 per corporation.

In the state of Illinois there are 17,908 corporations; aggregate capital, $31,191,068,968.74; total indebtedness, $3,032,803,126.87; net income, $274,321,933.85.

The average indebtedness of corporations in the whole country is 60 per cent of the whole capitalization. In the state of Illinois average is 94 per cent.

According to the report Illinois stands first in internal revenue taxes, the total it pays being $49,165,273.75. New York is next with $38,000,000 in round numbers; Kentucky, $32,000,000 and Indiana, $28,000,000. There were twenty-four million more gallons of distilled spirits this year than last year, and three million more barrels of fermented liquor than last year.

The total receipts of the bureau for the past year were $289,987,220.16.

DIAZ IS RE-INAUGURATED

President of Mexico Takes the Oath of Office for Eighth Consecutive Time.

Mexico City.—Gen. Porfirio Diaz was for the eighth time inaugurated president of the republic of Mexico Thursday with simple ceremony.

In view of the disturbances through which the country has recently passed, the inauguration was not marked by the season of fiestas, which has accompanied it in former years, but was conducted with the same formal dignity and impressiveness.

A kermess, with which it was planned to celebrate the occasion, was postponed until the Christmas holidays, because of a lack of time to make preparations.

The ceremonies occurred in the hall of congress in the Palace of Mexico, where the chamber of deputies has been holding its sessions pending the completion of the beautiful new home of that body. Only the diplomatic corps and a few other distinguished personages in addition to the high Mexican government officials were in attendance.

Following the induction of President Diaz the oath was administered to Ramon Corral, re-elected vice-president.

The president and vice-president then proceeded to the national palace.

MAJ. GEN. MERRITT DEAD

Distinguished Veteran of Civil, Indian and Spanish Wars Dies at Natural Bridge, Va.

Natural Bridge, Va.—Major Gen. Wesley Merritt, retired, died here Saturday. His home was in Washington. He was known throughout the country for his war services, as military governor of the Philippines, and as commander of the various army departments in the United States.

General Merritt's service in the United States army was an unbroken one. His promotion was gradual and in recognition of his qualities as soldier and gentleman.

TORIES GAIN THREE SEATS

Unionists Fall Short of Their Claims in First Day's Polling in British Election.

London.—The first day's polling in the British parliamentary elections Saturday greatly disappointed the Unionists. Returns from 64 constituencies show that they gained only seven seats, while the Liberals gained four. The Unionists had confidently counted on making a net gain of 20 seats.

The feature of the results that gives the Liberals most cause for rejoicing is that instead of losing five seats in London, as they had feared they would do, they gained one.

Wilson Seeks Permit to Leave. Washington.—Harry Lane Wilson, United States ambassador at Mexico City, Friday applied to the state department for leave of absence from his post. This is interpreted as indicative that conditions in Mexico are approaching a normal state.

Alter Arizona Constitution. Phoenix, Ariz.—The educational qualification for voters, which it has been freely predicted would cause congress to reject Arizona's constitution, was stricken from that document Saturday by a vote of 30 to 14.

Lehmann in Sowers' Place. Washington.—President Taft Saturday appointed Frederick W. Lehmann of St. Louis to be solicitor general of the United States to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Lloyd W. Bowers.

NEW ERA IN FINANCE

ACCURACY AND PUBLICITY PROVES TO BE A POPULAR MOTTO.

Prompt Response to Bold Move of President Taft. "Accuracy" Reduced Western Union's Surplus $13,000,000. "Publicity" Restored Confidence and Its Stock Went Up.

Are the great financiers of the country beginning to see a new light? Time was, until recently in fact, when the men at the head of the big corporations "kept their business to themselves," as far as the law would allow. Capable men at the head of the big concerns, long realized the weakness of their position, but what was needed obviously, as in all great reforms, was an unmistakable occasion and a courageous man. The occasion arose in the purchase of the Western Union Telegraph company by the American Telephone and Telegraph company, and the man appeared in Theodore N. Vail, President of the purchasing corporation.

It was last December when public announcement was made that the Gould holdings of Western Union had been taken over by the Telephone company.

On account of the high esteem in which the management of the telephone company is so generally held, great things were predicted as a result of the absorption of Western Union. By the press of the country the "deal" was most favorably commented on. It being widely pointed out that under the direction of such men as Theodore N. Vail and his associates, the telephone company was bound soon to work itself into a position where it could offer the public far more efficient service than it had ever before been able to offer.

But a very few months had elapsed when it became apparent to the new management that a modern and up-to-date appraisal of the company's assets would make possible a far greater degree of efficiency of operation. "Here," they said to themselves, "we've bought control of this property and we know it's immensely valuable, but we don't know just how valuable. Those appraisals of real estate and securities owned were made a long time ago. If we have a complete inventory made of every thing we've got we can announce the facts to the public, start a new set of books, and begin our responsibility to stockholders right there."

How Inventory Was Taken. The most expert accountants and appraisers to be had were put at the task. Their labors lasted over eight months. Their report and its publication by the company marks an epoch in finance.

It began by recommending an adjustment of the difference between the appraised and book values by a charge of $5,695,089 against surplus. Book values of securities had been reduced to market values, had doubtful accounts were "charged off," an allowance of $2,000,000 was made for "depreciation," another of $500,000 for "reserve," and so on, until the old surplus of $18,867,000 came down to $5,136,000.

It required courage, the publication of this statement to stockholders, saying in effect: "The property of your company has been revalued; the surplus isn't nineteen millions, as you have been led to believe, but five millions," but it was the truth, and President Vail did not flinch. "Accuracy and publicity," he declared, was essential. "The stockholder has a right to know. The shares of this company are scattered from one end of the Union to the other. This is more than a private corporation. It is a great national enterprise. The public is entitled to the facts."

The report was ordered published forthwith. Financiers of the old school and speculators generally were agast. What would happen? Would the bottom drop out of Western Union when the shareholders realized that their property was worth $13,000,000 less than they had supposed? But the amazing thing happened. The stock went up and stayed up. The public had responded to this remarkable display of frankness and confidence; to the new motto, "Accuracy and Publicity."

The full significance of the action of the new board is stated concisely by Harper's Weekly in these words: "Is this policy of publicity and of open-handed dealing with shareholders and public the forerunner of a similar movement on the part of other big corporations? Certainly it is to be hoped that it is. In the case of these big companies, dependent upon public patronage and doing business under public franchise, can there be any question of the right of the people to know?"

"That right is being recognized. It is recognized now in this epochal act on the part of the telephone and telegraph interests. It is the dawn of a new era in corporation finance."

Timeliness. All measures of reformation are effective in exact proportion to their timeliness; partial decay may be cut away and cleansed; incipient error corrected; but there is a point at which corruption can no more be stayed, nor wandering recalled. It has been the manner of modern plutocracy to remain passive until that precise period, and to leave the sick to perish, and the foolish to stray, while it spent itself in frantic exertions to raise the dead, and reform the dust.—Ruskin.

ECONOMY IS URGED

IN TAFT MESSAGE

PRESIDENT POINTS OUT NECESSITY OF CURTAILING EXPENSES TO LAWMAKERS.

ANNUAL DOCUMENT IS READ

Conservation, Ship Subsidy and Fortification of Panama Canal Leading Topics Discussed—Has Little to Say About Tariff.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Economy in government affairs is the keynote of President Taft's annual message read before both houses of congress today. The message approximates 40,000 words and is one of the longest ever submitted by a president.

Conservation of the public domain, ship subsidy, fortification of the Panama canal and the continuation of the present tariff board are the leading subjects touched upon. He also reviews the work of the various government departments and concurs in recommendation, tending toward the bettering of the service, made by several of the members of his cabinet.

Economy Is Urged.

In dwelling on the urgent need for economy in government expenditures, the president says: "Every effort has been made by each department chief to reduce the estimated cost of his department for the ensuing fiscal year ending June 30, 1911. In this order that congress may understand that these estimates thus made present the smallest sum which will maintain the departments, bureaus and offices of the government, and that other obligations under existing law, and that a cut of these estimates would result in embarrassing the executive branch of the government in the performance of its duties. This remark does not apply to the river and harbor improvements and the meeting of obligations under authorized contracts, nor does it apply to the public building bill nor to the navy building program. Of course, as to these congress could without detriment to the public interest, for them without interfering with the discharge of the ordinary obligations of these functions of its departments, bureaus and offices."

"Against the estimates of expenditures $46,443,212, we have estimated receipts for next year $39,000,000, making a probable surplus of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditures of about $5,000,000, or taking into account the estimates for the Panama canal, which are $4,820,000, the probable surplus is reduced to about $1,000,000. It will leave a deficit for the next year of about $7,000,000. If congress shall conclude to fortify the canal."

Wants Forest Limitation Removed.

On the subject of conservation he devotes considerable space to forest, coal, oil and gas, phosphate lands and water power. As to the reservation of forest lands he says: "The law now prohibits the reservation of any more forest lands in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Colorado and Wyoming, except by act of congress. I am informed by the department of agriculture that the government owns other tracts of timber land in these states which should be included in the forest reserves. I recommend to congress that the limitation herein imposed be repealed. Congress ought to trust the executive to use the power of reservation only with respect to land most valuable for forest purposes. During the present administration, 62,200 acres of land largely non-timbered have been excluded from forest reserves, and 3,000 acres of land principally valuable for forest purposes have been included in forest reserves, making a reduction in forest reserves of non-timbered land amounting to 2,700,000 acres."

Wants Canal Fortified.

Regarding the Panama canal, the president asserts that unless unexpected obstacles arise the waterway will be completed well within the limit of January 1, 1915, and within estimate of cost of $100,000,000. Suggestions for levying of tolls and management are made, and regarding fortification of the canal, he says:

"Among questions arising for present solution is the question whether the canal shall be fortified. I have already stated to the congress that I strongly favor fortification and I now reiterate this opinion and ask your consideration of the subject in the light of the report already made by a competent board. Failure to fortify the canal would leave the attainment of both these aims in the position of rights and obligations which we should be powerless to enforce and which could never in any way be absolutely safeguarded against a desperate and irresponsible enemy."

Ship Subsidy.

The president urges such action as he believes will increase American trade abroad, and says:

"Another instrumentality indispensable to the unhampered and natural development of American commerce is merchant marine. All maritime and commercial nations recognize the importance of this factor. The greatest commercial nations, our competitors, jealously foster their merchant marine. Perhaps nowhere is the need for rapid and direct mail, passenger and freight communication quite so urgent as between the United States and Latin America. We can secure in no other quarter of the world such immediate benefits in friendship and commerce as would flow from the establishment of direct lines of communication with the countries of Latin America adequate to meet the requirements of a rapidly increasing appreciation of the reciprocal dependence of the countries of the western hemisphere upon each other's products, sympathies and assistance. It is urged to this most important subject in my last annual message. It has often been before you and I need not recapitulate the reasons for its recommendation. Unless prompt action be taken the completion of the Panama canal will find this the only great commercial nation unable to avail in international maritime business of this great contribution to the means of the world's commercial intercourse."

A Quick Recovery.

"It seems that prizefighters never 'come back.' Maybe not, but 'blind tigers' do. One resumed business the other day in 15 minutes after it had been raided."

Depending on Chance.

"I wonder why there are so many failures in the world. Probably because so many people have gone through life hoping to win some day on a 100-to-1 shot."

CRITICISM OF THE TARIFF.

In the space devoted to the tariff the president says:

"The scheduler of the rates of duty in the tariff act have been subjected to a great deal of criticism, some of it just, more of it unfounded, and too much misrepresentation. The act was adopted in pursuance of a declaration by the party which is responsible for it that customs bills should be a tariff for the protection of home industries; the measure of the protection to be the difference between the cost of producing the imported article abroad and the cost of producing it at home, together with such addition to that difference as might give a reasonable profit to the home producer. The basis for the criticism of this tariff is that in respect to a number of the scheduled duties declared measure was not followed, but a higher difference retained or inserted by way of undue discrimination in favor of certain industries and manufactures. Little, if any, of the criticism of the tariff has been directed against the protective principle above stated; but the main body of the criticism has been based on the attempt to conform to the measure of protection was not honestly and sincerely adhered to."

The president also refers to the appointment of a board of experts to investigate the cost of production of various articles included in the schedule of the tariff, and concludes:

"Whether or not the protective policy is to be continued, and the degree of protection to be accorded to our home industries, are questions which the people must decide through their chosen representatives. But whatever policy is adopted, it is clear that the necessary legislation should be based on an impartial, thorough and continuous study of the facts."

Recommendations Paroled Post.

The adoption of the parcels post is again adopted. On this subject President Taft says: "With respect to the parcels post I respectfully recommend its adoption on all rural delivery routes, and the post office department has already made the limit of carriage in such post. The same argument is made against the parcels post that was made against the postal savings bank—that it is introducing the government into a business which should be conducted by private persons and is paternalism. The postoffice department has a great plant and a great organization reaching into the most remote hamlet of the United States, and with its machinery it is able to conduct many things economically, that if a new organization were necessary it would be impossible to do without extravagant expenditures."

Department of Justice.

Discussing the affairs of the department of justice, the president says: "I invite special attention to the prosecutions under the federal law of the so-called 'bucket shops' and of those schemes to defraud in which the use of the mail is an essential part of the fraudulent conspiracy. Prosecutions which have saved innocent and weak members of the public and are saving them hundreds of millions of dollars. The violations of the anti-trust law present perhaps the most important litigation before the department, and the number of cases filed shows the activity of the government in enforcing that statute."

"In a special message last year I brought to the attention of congress the necessity and wisdom of an amendment to the federal law providing for the incorporation of industrial and other companies engaged in interstate commerce, and I renew my recommendation in that behalf."

The crying need in the United States for simplifying judicial procedure and expediting final judgment is pointed out and action looking to correction of these evils is urged.

The President recommends an increase in the salaries of federal judges.

Postal Affairs.

In regard to postal matters the president points with pride to its present efficient management and the recent reduction in the deficit. The present unrestricted franking privileges, coming in for comment with a suggestion for the adoption of better methods for its regulation.

Abolish Navy Yard.

The president calls attention to certain reforms urged by the secretary of the navy which he recommends for adoption, and continues: "The secretary of the navy has given personal examination to every navy yard, and has studied the uses of the navy yards with reference to the necessities of our fleet. With a fleet considerably less than that of the United States, the British navy has shipyards more than double the number, and there are several of these shipyards expensively equipped with modern machinery, which, after investigation the secretary of the navy believes to be entirely inadequate for naval purposes. He asks authority to abandon certain of them and to move their machinery to other places, where it can be made of use."

Speaking of our foreign relations the president says: "During the past year the foreign relations of the United States have continued upon a basis of friendship and good understanding."

"The year has been notable as witnessing the pacific settlement of two important international controversies before the permanent court of The Hague."

"The arbitration of the fisheries dispute between the United States and Great Britain, which has been the source of nearly continuous diplomatic response since the fisheries convention of 1818, has given an award which is satisfactory to both parties. This arbitration is particularly noteworthy not only because of the eminently just results secured, but also because it is the first arbitral award under the general arbitration treaty of April 4, 1908, between the United States and Great Britain, and disposes of a controversy the settlement of which has rested every other resource of diplomacy and which for nearly ninety years has been the cause of friction between two countries whose common interest lies in maintaining the most friendly and cordial relations with each other."

"President Taft makes a few recommendations for changes in the international commerce law and says:

"Except as above, I do not recommend any amendment to the International Commerce Act as it stands. I do not now recommend any amendment to the anti-trust law. In other words, it seems to me that the existing legislation with reference to the regulation of corporations and the restraint of their business has reached a point where we can stop for a while and witness the effect of a vigorous execution of the laws of the statute books in restraining the abuses which certainly did exist and which roused the public to demand reform."

$3.50 RECIPE CURES WEAK KIDNEYS, FREE

RELIEVES URINARY AND KIDNEY TROUBLES, BACKACHE, STRAINING, SWELLING, ETC.

Stops Pain in the Bladder, Kidneys and Back.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say goodbye forever to the aching, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passing of urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen eyelids or ankles; leg cramps; unnatural short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency?

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on, and if you want to make a QUICK RECOVERY, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 15-250 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power. It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

The man who has a good reputation may not be able to realize the fun he might have if he didn't.

Thousands of country people know that in time of sudden mishap, a sudden Hamlin Wizard Oil is the best substitute for the family doctor. That is why it is so often found upon the shelf.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its parts. That is Catarrh. Catarrh is a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It cures Catarrh of the bladder, prostate, and urethra, and gives the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The writers have too much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: J. C. HENNEY & CO., Toledo, O. Old Pete's Little Joke.

Foolish questions and funny answers were under discussion in the Trenton avenue and Dauphin street police station the other day, and after listening for a while to some amusing instances, Sergeant McCay told the following: "Old Pete Flood was the attendant in the Franklin cemetery some years ago, and it became the custom to ask him how business was, just to hear his reply. 'It came in a heavy bass voice: 'Ain't buried a living soul today.'"

Good Humor and Cheerfulness From Right Food and Drink.

Anything that interferes with good health is apt to keep cheerfulness and good humor in the background. A Washington lady found that letting coffee alone made things bright for her. She writes:

"Four years ago I was practically given up by my doctor and was not expected to live long. My nervous system was in a bad condition."

"But I was young and did not want to die so I began to look about for the cause of my chronic trouble. I used to have nervous spells which would exhaust me and after each spell it would take me days before I could sit up in a chair."

"I became convinced my trouble was caused by coffee. I decided to stop it and bought some Postum."

"The first cup, which I made according to directions, had a soothing effect on my nerves and I liked the taste. For a time I nearly lived on Postum and ate little food besides. I am today a healthy woman."

"My family and relatives wonder if I am the same person I was four years ago, when I could do no work on account of nervousness. Now I am doing my own housework, take care of two babies—one twenty the other two months old. I am so busy that I hardly get time to write a letter, yet I do it all with the cheerfulness and good humor that comes from enjoying good health."

"I tell my friends it is to Postum I owe my life today."

Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new life came from that time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

ASK THE SALVATION ARMY

That is What Many Do When They Want Anything, Even a Bonnet for the Horse.

A teamster who needed a bonnet for his scrawny horse applied to the Salvation Army.

"Why did you go to them for such a thing as that?" someone asked.

"Because I knew they had them," he said. "I saw one of their wagons go down the street with two strings of horses' bonnets stretched from the top of the cover to the tailgate, so I hustled down and asked for one before they were all gone."

"His case is typical of hundreds of others," said an army worker. "Our collection wagons are veritable curiously shops on wheels. Household goods and clothing comprise the bulk of the load, but it is topped off by curious odds and ends. Penurious or poverty-stricken souls keep an eye on the most conspicuous contributions and when they see anything they want they simply follow the wagon down to headquarters and ask for it."

When Mahomet Went to the Mountain.

Mahomet made the people believe that he would call a hill to him, and from the top of it offer prayers to the observers of the law. The people assembled; Mahomet called the hill to come to him, again and again; and when it stood still, he was never a whit abashed, but said: "If the hill will not come to Mahomet, Mahomet will go to the hill."—Bacon.

As He Understood It.

"Why is it," asked the ambitious young orator, complaining to the editor of the morning paper, "that you always report me as having said, 'among other things'?" "Well, as I understand it, you are usually among other things when you say them."

Life of a Watch.

Watches do wear out; and, as to the life of a watch, a jeweler said, a good average watch, with a fair case, ought to wear for thirty to forty years, and a fine watch, fifty years; it might last seventy-five, but fifty years would probably be nearer the figure.

Odd Wireless Telephone.

Writing from Gorman Africa, a tourist says: "We found here in the dense forest, among people who know nothing of modern scientific discoveries, a good and practical wireless telephone. The natives have for the purpose of ceremony, peaceful and warlike, drums of various dimensions made of wood, and these, when beaten, emit sounds of about an octave in range. Aside from the ceremonies the drums are used also as a means of communication. We had a proof of it one day. Our caravan was ready to start when our head servant stopped suddenly in his work, listened intently and then gave unmistakable signs of pleasure. We learned later that the indistinct sounds conveyed to him the news that a boy had been born to his brother in a neighboring village."

Prize Possession of Name.

Bulwer-Lytton: "And whatever you lend, let it be your money, and not your name. Money you may get again, and if not, you may contrive to do without it; name, once lost you cannot get again; and if you contrive to do without it, you had better never been born."

Cause of Eye Trouble.

A painful eye affection, ophthalmia nodosa, is attributed by a German oculist to invisible caterpillar hairs. Lodging in the eye, these thorn-covered particles cause the lid to swell, form knots under the conjunctiva, and even destroy the pupil. Brown-tail moth hairs cause rash over the whole body.

A Hard World.

"It's a hard world," said the aviator, who felt that he was not appreciated. "Yes," replied the colleague. "The world would be much easier for our business if it could have been made of rubber and inflated."

No Such Goats Now.

They must have had some pretty savage goats in Connecticut a hundred years ago. Under an old law if a boy was driving a goat along a highway and they met a traveler and the goat jumped on to the traveler and threw him down and bit him and otherwise harmed him, that boy could be sent to jail for three months and his father sued for damages.

The goat has improved in temper since those days. It can be held driven along now and meets a traveler he simply winks and passes on and the boy is safe.
